

A B STORE

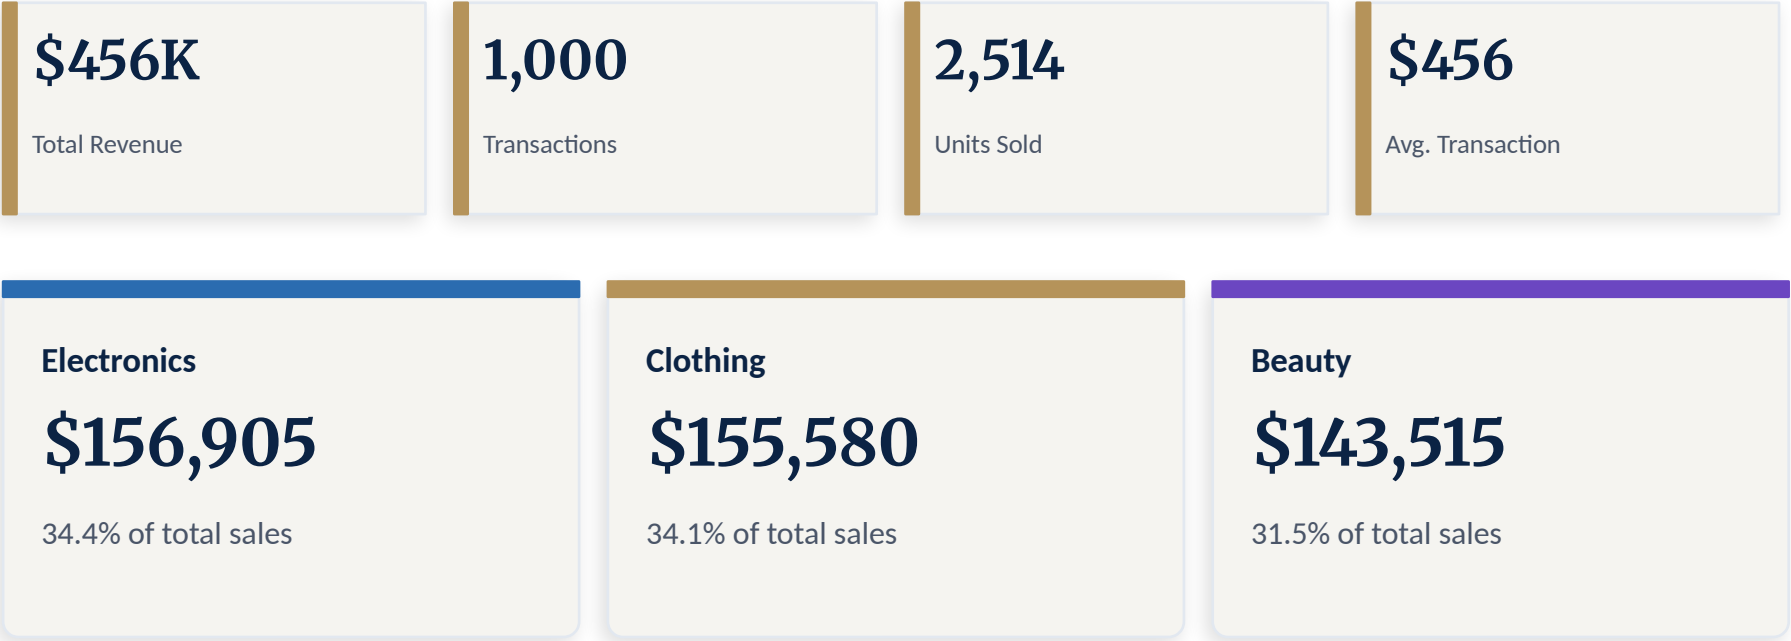

Retail Sales Analysis

Performance Review · 2023 – January 2024

1,000 transactions · 3 product categories · $456,000 total revenue

Key Performance Indicators

Overview of total sales, volume and customer mix

Sales Mix by Category & Gender

Nearly even split across categories and genders

Product Category

Electronics	$156,905	34.4%
Clothing	$155,580	34.1%
Beauty	$143,515	31.5%
Total	$456,000	100%

Gender Split

Female

$232,840

51.1% of revenue

Male

$223,160

48.9% of revenue

Monthly Sales Trend — 2023

May was the strongest month; September the weakest

Peak: May $53,150 · Low: Sep $23,620 · Q4 average ~$42K · 2024 Jan (partial): $1,530

Category Performance Highlights

Best and weakest months by product category

Electronics	$156,905	Best: May $23,245	Weak: Mar $3,380
Highest overall revenue; strong Q4 finish (Dec $20,220)
Clothing	$155,580	Best: May $17,455	Weak: Jul $8,250
Most consistent month-to-month; solid Nov $15,200
Beauty	$143,515	Best: Jul $16,090	Weak: Sep $6,320
Strong mid-year (Jul/Oct); softer late summer

Key Takeaways & Recommendations

Insights drawn from 1,000 transactions

01 Balanced Category Mix

Electronics, Clothing and Beauty each contribute ~31–34%.
No single category dominates risk.

02 May Peak / September Dip

May delivered $53K (highest). September at $24K suggests a seasonal soft spot—review promotions.

03 Gender Parity

Female customers slightly ahead (51% / $233K). Marketing can remain broad rather than gender-skewed.

04 Average Basket ~$456

2.5 units per transaction on average. Opportunity to lift AOV via bundles or higher-ticket Electronics.